Abco accepts no responsibility for the content, accuracy, completeness, legality or function of third party websites.

It is your responsibility to ensure that you have the appropriate hardware, software, and Internet access services to access the website and allow proper use of the website. If you have difficulty using the website please notify your local Abco office. Neither Abco, nor any of its subsidiaries or affiliates, shall be responsible for any of your costs associated with your use and/or access to the website.

Indemnification

In consideration of your access to and/or use of the website, you agree to indemnify and hold Abco, its subsidiaries and affiliates and their respective directors, officers, employees, contractors, agents or suppliers harmless from all claims, liabilities, damages, losses, including reasonable legal fees and expenses, incurred by any of the foregoing parties due to or arising out of your access to or use of the website and any breach by you of the Terms and Conditions of Use.

Copyright, Trademarks, Limited License and Use

The website and its contents are protected by copyright, trademark and other proprietary rights of Abco, its subsidiaries or affiliates, or third parties. Except as expressly permitted in these Terms and Conditions of Use, no portion of the website or its contents, including trademarks, logos and service marks, may be reproduced in any form, or by any means, without prior written permission from Abco. Nothing herein shall be construed as conferring by implication, estoppel or otherwise, any license or right under or to any intellectual property, including patent, trademark or copyright of Abco, its subsidiaries or affiliates, or any third party.

Abco grants to you a limited, personal, non-transferable license to use and copy materials published by Abco on the website, solely for non-commercial use within your organization. No other use of the materials is authorized. In consideration of this limited license, you agree that any copy of website materials, which you make, shall retain all copyright, trademark and other proprietary notices in the same form and manner as on the original and you must explicitly acknowledge Abco as the provider of such content and the owner of such copyright or trademark.

Privacy

Abco, including its affiliates, subsidiaries, divisions and related businesses, is committed to respecting the personal privacy of individuals who deal with us for business purposes or those that visit our various web sites. We value the privacy of our customers and are committed to protecting their personal information. We will collect your company and personal information submitted through our website, when you call a sales or support associate or through the purchase of our products and services. Abco does not collect sensitive personal data (e.g. data relating to your political or religious beliefs, your health, race, etc.). At times, however, personal information is obtained from other sources, such as government bodies or third parties, as permitted by law. Except with actual or implied consent, or as permitted or required by law, we will not sell or distribute your personal information outside of Abco and its current and future affiliated companies.

Most of our services do not require any form of registration, allowing you to visit our site without telling us who you are. However, some services may require you to provide us with personal data. In these situations, if you choose to withhold any personal data requested by us, it may not be possible for you to gain access to certain parts of the site or to conduct business with us and for us to respond to your query.

All personal information provided to Abco, including its Canadian and USA subsidiaries, divisions and related businesses, by Canadian individuals is protected by Abco pursuant to the requirements of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (Canada).

All personal information provided by other than Canadian individuals, to Abco's U.S. subsidiaries, divisions and related businesses is protected under the privacy laws of the jurisdiction of such U.S. subsidiary, division or related business.

Any questions concerning Abco's privacy policy should be addressed to our corporate office toll-free at 1-800-313-4281 or by e-mail at info@cole.ca.

“Cookies” and Log Files

We may collect and process information about your visit to this website, such as the pages you visit, the website you came from and some of the searches you perform. Such information is used by us to help improve the contents of the site, to map usage patterns and to compile aggregate statistics about individuals using our site for internal, market research purposes. In doing this, we may install "cookies" that collect the domain name of the user, your Internet service provider, your operating system, and the date and time of access. Most Web browsers are set up to accept cookies, although you can reset your browser to refuse all cookies or to indicate when a cookie is being sent. Note, however, that some portions of our sites may not work properly if you refuse cookies.

We may use IP addresses to analyze trends, administer the site, track user's movements, and gather broad demographic information for aggregate use. We store log files of these IP addresses for administrative, security and statistical purposes. However, those addresses are not linked to personal data.

Severability

If any provision or provisions of the Terms and Conditions of Use shall be held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, such provision shall be enforced to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, and the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions shall not in any way be affected or impaired thereby.

Applicable Law

Any use of this website and all legal disputes arising in connection therewith shall exclusively be governed by the laws of the Province of Alberta and applicable Canadian law.
